AFX Research, LLC Integrates with Xactware to Provide Title Searching Services for Property Claims

Due to increasing demand for title search reports by property claims insurers, AFX Research, LLC has integrated with Xactware's claims management and analytical network, XactAnalysis®, to more efficiently deliver title search reports to their insurance clients. As insurers are increasingly recognizing the title search report as an important element in claims-handling best practices, AFX Research has filled the need for a single point of contact for all searches nationwide. The new collaboration with Xactware will simplify the process even further, allowing claims representative to order reports right from their XactAnalysis file.

"We are thrilled to work with Xactware and be able to offer our insurance clients the ability to order and receive their title search reports through the Xactware interface," said David Mitchell, Corporate Account Manager at AFX. "We are always looking for ways to make our process more efficient for our clients and this integration with Xactware will do that."

Report orders via XactAnalysis are delivered back into the file within 2-3 business days. The reports are in a standardized format throughout all US counties. Insurers desiring to take advantage of the interface should contact AFX Research directly. Contact information can be found at TitleSearch.com.
